Part II

Course Aims

This course aims to offer an overview of the “narrative turn” in human sciences and examine the role and application of narrative (de)construction in counselling and psychotherapy, with dual foci on the theoretical work underpinning narrative-based therapeutic systems, notably Narrative Therapy, and the development of skilled performance in opening up narrative space and navigating (de)constructing and re-authoring conversations in therapeutic work in human services and other professional/occupational contexts.
Course Intended Outcomes (CILOs)

Upon successful completion of the course, students should be able to:

<tr>
<td>1.</td>
<td>Examine and explain how human beings lead storied lives and how narratives play a central role in giving meaning to people’s lived experience, in self and identify construction, and in creating multiple realities that people live in.</td>
<td>20%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2.</td>
<td>Critically examine discursive formations that furnish dominant discourses to condition and constraint how people make sense of their lived experience and perceive the world they live in.</td>

TLA1: Lectures

Intellectual resource will be presented in short lectures and, if feasible, with illustrations drawn from therapeutic work in counselling and psychotherapy.

TLA2: Video- and live demonstration

Media resources, notably video demonstrations of narrative-based therapeutic systems by master therapists (Michael White, David Epston, Harlene Anderson, Stephen Madigan) that students have online access via the Run Run Shaw Library of CityU, will be used in an integrated manner with short lectures and live demonstrations, the latter being staged to explore narrative-based therapeutic work with people in the local context.
TLA3: Role-play and peer counselling

Skilled performance in practicing Narrative Therapy is developed through both in-class and off-class role-plays and peer counselling. Role-plays are largely structured by the teacher. Peer counselling is organized as self-directed learning, which also contributes to student assessment.

TLA4: Group presentation

Students host workshops to explore how ideas of narrative-based therapeutic systems may be usefully applied to help people who are facing chronic difficulties or living on the fringe.

Assessment Tasks/Activities
(Indicative of likely activities and tasks designed to assess how well the students achieve the CILOs. Final details will be provided to students in their first week of attendance in this course)

AT1: Group presentation

Performance of students working as a group to plan, design, and host workshops that explore how ideas of narrative-based therapeutic systems may be usefully applied to help specific client groups will be assessed along three assessment dimensions: (a) quality of learning that the audience gains; (b) the quality of intellectual work being tapped; and (c) how ideas drawn from narrative-based therapeutic systems are applied in therapeutic work with people who are going through trauma and losses, or are coping with personal failures in life.

AT2: Term paper

Students write an individual paper of around 3,000 words documenting and reflecting on their experience in practicing ideas of Narrative Therapy in peer counselling, in the role of counsellor and/or client.
Grading of Student Achievement:
Refer to Grading of Courses in the Academic Regulations for Taught Postgraduate Degrees.
