

Wong Hoi Lun (graduate of AABCS-EJ 2004 cohort)

From this two-year associate degree programme, I did learn a lot and experienced a lot which is useful, precious, and delightful. When I started studying here, I was afraid that I could not catch up because I had never done Japanese before. However, teachers here are very friendly and responsible; they encourage us to try and guide us along all the way through.

Besides learning in the classroom, at the end of the first year, students will join a study tour to Japan for about one month, learning the language and its culture. During my studies, I joined the one to Ishikawa and stayed with my host family for a month. I had first-hand experience on many things, like flower arrangements, wearing kimonos and tea ceremonies. This was the most precious summer vocation that I have ever had.

After I completed this programme, I continued with my study and I am now working on a degree programme in Japanese studies at the University of Hong Kong. I am happy that the programme offered by the Community College of City University could lead me to the goal of my life.
