
CITY UNIVERSITY OF HONG KONG LAW REVIEW

Volume 2

July 2010

Number 1

CONTENTS

'Exclusions from Constitutional Law': Presenting and Unpacking the Idea	Surya Deva	1
--	-------------------	---

Articles

Constitutional and Anti-Constitutional Responses to Terrorism: The Difficulty of Removing Exclusions from Constitutional Law	Konrad Lachmayer	5
The Proportionality Principle, Counter-terrorism Laws and Human Rights: A German–Australian Comparison	Christopher Michaelsen	19
Counter-Terrorism Laws in a Nation without a Bill of Rights: The Australian Experience	Nicola McGarrity and George Williams	45
Rethinking the 'War On Terror': Legal Perspectives on Containment and Development Strategies	Eric Engle	67
Singapore Criminal Law: Examining the Etiology of Exception	Michael Hor	81
Economic Growth at the Price of Human Rights Violations? The Protection of Human/Labour Rights in Export Processing Zones	Christina Binder	99
Territory Exceptionalism and Indigenous Property Holders: Federalism, Rights Protection and the Australian Constitution	Sean Brennan	117

Notes

Witness Protection at International Criminal Tribunals: Previous Experiences as Lessons for the Extraordinary Chambers in the Courts of Cambodia?	Romana Weber	137
Sexual Intercourse as Rape under the State Policy of Forced Marriage: A Crime against Humanity	Judy Wong Pik Yuk and Jessie Fong Ho Yee	161

Corporate Criminal Liability: A Comparative Review Gennady A Esakov 173

Constitutional Entrenchment:
Questions of Legal Possibility and Moral Desirability in the United Kingdom Hin-Yan Liu 193

Book Reviews

Corporate Governance: Principles, Policies, and Practices
(Bob Tricker) Wei Shen 203

Casebook on Torts (Richard Kidner) Fozia Nazir Lone 205

International Human Rights Law (Javaid Rehman) Guobin Zhu 208

Hong Kong Administrative Law
(Swati Jhaveri, Michael Ramsden and Anne Scully-Hill) Peter C H Chan 210

Judicial Review in Hong Kong (Richard Gordon and Johnny Mok) Lin Feng 213