

CCCL Chinese Law & Practice Seminar Series

Introduction to Empirical Legal Research

Dr Lauren Yu-Hsin LIN (林郁馨)

Associate Professor, City University of Hong Kong

About the Speaker

Lauren Yu-Hsin Lin is an expert in corporate law and governance. Her research and teaching focus on business law, including corporate governance, corporate finance, capital markets, and securities regulation. She employs empirical methods to dissect and understand the effect of different governance rules and regulatory measures on corporations. She is interested in various topics in corporate governance, such as shareholder activism, securities class action, board independence, dual-class share structure, and governance issues in state-owned enterprises. Her recent projects examine the role of the state in corporate governance, focusing on the effect of formalizing the role of corporate party committees in Chinese companies as well as the implementation of a social credit system on corporations in China. Her research on Chinese corporations has generated policy impacts leading to rule changes and has been cited by the Delaware Court of Chancery, the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC), and the U.S.-China Economic and Security Review Commission (USCC). She also leads several research grants and consultation projects supported by the government and stock exchanges.
