

CityU Law School Welcomes Fresh Students

24 Aug 2011

-Grace Chen

Professor Wang Guiguo delivered a welcoming speech

On Aug 24, CityU Law School organized a full-day Orientation Programme for the fresh crop of students in LLB, PCLL, LLM, JD and JSD Programme, to give the freshers a glimpse of the School, the programmes, courses, student activities, resources and facilities, and mostly the expectations of being a law student. The Orientation Programme aims to acquaint the freshmen with the Law School community and facilitate a smooth transition to college life.

Speaking on this occasion, Professor WANG Guiguo, Dean of CityU Law School, said: “CityU Law School is well-positioned to equip our students with global legal knowledge, sophisticated skills and diverse perspectives. The past experiences prove that our students are extremely competitive compared with their counterparts from world-class law schools. The achievements made by our students in mooting competition are evidences of their competitiveness. We welcome you to join our law school family and you’re assured that all my colleagues and I are fully-prepared to help realize your ambitions and fulfill the expectations from your parents and the society. We hope that a number of years later when looking back into this chapter of your life, you'll find it a rewarding and exciting experience.”

Ms Eunice Yung (Barrister) and Ms Nisha Mohamed (Barrister)

The well-seasoned faculty shared with students the highlights of their respective courses and discussed, in brief, their curriculum to be followed during the tenure of their courses. The School invited young lawyers in Hong Kong to introduce the necessary qualifications and requirements of a lawyer and particularly shared their career building experiences and interesting anecdotes as a lawyer. The students actively participated in an 'open house' session to introduce themselves to their faculty and classmates and to clear their doubts and apprehensions on campus life at CityU Law School.

