L² Estimates, Lipschitz Geometry, and Structure of Data Sets

Peter W. Jones
Department of Mathematics
Yale University, USA
E-mail: jones@math.yale.edu

We will discuss multi-scale notions of classical least squares methods. This leads to sharp theorems on manifold-like structures with positive mass for a given probability measure in \( \mathbb{R}^n \). Among applications we consider how to find “low-dimensional” pieces of a data set. Most of this is joint work with G. Lerman.