Part II Course Details

1. Abstract

(A 150-word description about the course)

This course introduces students to the systematic study of language and society, and helps students achieve a better understanding of the relevant approaches and methodologies in the study of language and society, especially in the Hong Kong context. It also provides students with the appropriate tools, both theoretical and practical, to describe and analyse a number of language issues in Hong Kong society. Specifically, this course aims at enabling students to:

- Describe and exemplify some basic sociolinguistic concepts: biliteracy, trilingualism, code-mixing and code-switching, standard language and dialect, written language and spoken language, speech community.
- Apply these concepts to analyse the main contextual variables of a communicative event: “who speaks what to whom when and where”.
- Apply these concepts to analyse the language situation in Hong Kong.
- Apply these concepts to analyse the language needs of ethnic minority groups in Hong Kong.
- Apply these concepts to analyse the relationships among language, identity, culture and society.

2. Course Intended Learning Outcomes (CILOs)

(CILOs state what the student is expected to be able to do at the end of the course according to a given standard of performance.)

		100%

* If weighting is assigned to CILOs, they should add up to 100%.

[#] Please specify the alignment of CILOs to the Gateway Education Programme Intended Learning outcomes (PILOs) in Section A of Annex.

A1: Attitude

Develop an attitude of discovery/innovation/creativity, as demonstrated by students possessing a strong sense of curiosity, asking questions actively, challenging assumptions or engaging in inquiry together with teachers.

A2: Ability

Develop the ability/skill needed to discover/innovate/create, as demonstrated by students possessing critical thinking skills to assess ideas, acquiring research skills, synthesizing knowledge across disciplines or applying academic knowledge to self-life problems.

A3: Accomplishments

Demonstrate accomplishment of discovery/innovation/creativity through producing /constructing creative works/new artefacts, effective solutions to real-life problems or new processes.

3. Teaching and Learning Activities (TLAs)

(TLAs designed to facilitate students' achievement of the CILOs.)

TLA	Brief Description	CILO No.					Hours/week (if applicable)
		1	2	3	4	5
Interactive lectures	Students learn to describe and give an account and example of sociolinguistic concepts through participating in interactive lectures where these concepts are introduced and illustrated through examples and case studies.	√	√	√	√	√
Out-of-class reading tasks and in-class discussions	Students further learn to describe and give an account of sociolinguistic concepts through completing the required readings and consulting the recommended readings that are assigned to them each week along with a set of study questions based on these readings. Students are to prepare responses to the study questions and to share and discuss those responses in class.	√	√	√
Group project work and presentations	Students work in small groups to choose a topic and design a study on a chosen topic. Students work in their groups to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> a. conduct fieldwork to collect linguistic data or data on one of the following topics: code-mixing and code-switching in Hong Kong, language needs of a minority group in Hong Kong, or, the main contextual variables of a communicative event in daily life in Hong Kong; b. analyse the collective findings of the group and relate them to the broader sociolinguistic context of Hong Kong, and to the hypothesize about relationships that exist between language, identity, society and culture; c. orally present their findings in class; and d. present the study in a written project report. 	√		√		√

4. Assessment Tasks/Activities (ATs)

(ATs are designed to assess how well the students achieve the CILOs.)

Assessment Tasks/Activities	CILO No.						Weighting*	Remarks
	1	2	3	4	5
Continuous Assessment: 100 %
1. Class Participation	√	√	√				10%	Individual: Based on how frequently, actively, and constructively students participate. In-class activities, discussions and presentations measure students' ability to apply newly learned principles to real contexts and situations.
2. Group Final Written Report			√		√		30%	Group work: Students will have the opportunity to apply their knowledge to critically analyze and evaluate authentic language data. Students will apply analytical methods in their analysis. Students will also have the opportunity to identify and reflect on the relationship between language and identity in Hong Kong society.
3. Group Final Project In-Class Presentation			√		√		15%	Group work: Students will demonstrate their ability to apply their knowledge and analytical tools and report their findings in a succinct, organized, and professional manner in an oral presentation.
4. Test	√	√	√	√	√		45%	Individual: The test will be designed to test students' facility with theoretical concepts and analytical skills from lectures and readings. It will also test students' application of knowledge.

5. Assessment Rubrics

(Grading of student achievements is based on student performance in assessment tasks/activities with the following rubrics.)

Assessment Task	Criterion	Excellent (A+, A, A-)	Good (B+, B, B-)	Fair (C+, C, C-)	Marginal (D)	Failure (F)
1. Class Participation	Attendance and active class participation	An excellent record of attendance and participation. Attended all classes punctually, always participated actively and constructively in class and group activities.	Satisfactory attendance and punctuality. Generally participated actively and constructively in class and group activities.	Satisfactory attendance and punctuality. Frequently participated actively and constructively in class and group activities.	Attendance and punctuality not fully satisfactory and/or participation in class and group activities was inconsistent.	Attendance and punctuality were unsatisfactory. Did not meaningfully engage with class and group activities.
2. Group Final Written Report	Written paper on a topic that presents data collected and analyzed using a sociolinguistic perspective.	Able to analyze and present a sociolinguistic issue very clearly and insightfully, applying the theoretical framework, accurately giving evidence from data collected, and synthesizing points into a coherent argument expressed in clear and accurate English and within the word limit.	Able to analyze and present a sociolinguistic issue clearly, applying the theoretical framework fairly accurately giving evidence from data collected, and synthesizing points into a relatively coherent argument expressed in clear and mostly accurate English and within the word limit.	There may be some inaccuracies in understanding the sociolinguistic issue under investigation. Sufficient evidence may not be provided. The paper may lack focus or be poorly argued. There may be problems with the organization or grammar of the paper. The paper may exceed the word limit.	There are serious flaws and/or inaccuracies in understanding the sociolinguistic issue under investigation. Sufficient evidence is not provided. The paper lacks focus or is poorly argued. There are serious problems with the organization or grammar of the paper. The paper is incomplete or incomprehensible due to a large number of language inaccuracies.	Unable to apply the theories in an accurate way, present a coherent analysis and/or communicate in written English to an acceptable standard.
3. Group Final Project In-Class Presentation	Organization/Delivery/ Grammar/Effectiveness /Timing of presentation	The presentation provides a very clear and insightful analysis. It	The presentation provides a clear analysis. It draws	The presentation provides an adequate analysis.	The presentation provides a poor analysis.
