Apoidea – Software Engineer (Front-end)

Apoidea is an AI fintech company which leverages novel techniques in deep learning and natural language processing to extract insights within and among financial texts. We are actively serving financial institutions in Hong Kong and Singapore, which includes various applications in commercial lending, wealth management and securities brokerage.

Responsibilities

- Delivering a complete frontend application across multiple browsers, platforms, etc.
- Work closely with engineer and designer in planning and ensure high quality of UX/UI.
- Responsible for development, testing, maintenance and documentation.

Requirements

- Bachelor’s degree in Computer Science, Information Technology or related disciplines
- 1 – 3 years relevant experience in front-end development, less experienced candidate will be considered for graduate position
- Hands on knowledge in frontend frameworks include but not limited to - React, Bootstrap, JQuery
- Experience with HTML5, CSS3 (SCSS / LESS)
- Experience with responsive design
- Knowledge of SEO best practices
- Detail oriented, demonstrated the ability to analyze and elaborate on requirements, and align with the perspective of both business and product sustainability
- Strong understanding of the development cycle, programming techniques and related tools.
- Excellent project and time management skills.
- Strong problem-solving skill and able to communicate technical concept to business units.
- Team player and able to work independently

Application method – email CV to hr@apoidea.ai