Year 1 and 2 students can take this opportunity to make friends with them, and they will share their work experience and insights on the industry, helping the students develop perspectives of their future career. Bright students might also be identified throughout the process.

2. In-house Sharing Session

During our Management Trainee Program and Graduate Engineer Program, we have a regular sharing session, i.e. Discussion forum, site visit, leisure activity and so on. We would like to invite your students to join us, aims to understand more industrial trend and extend their network, helping the students to equip themselves with relevant experience to prepare themselves for their future careers.
3. Industry Leaders’ Sharing Program

For year 3 and 4 students, we would provide a sharing series which aims to nurture the next generation of the industry leaders in Hong Kong. Our directors and senior management will share with the students the most updated knowledge and skills in the construction industry. The topics will cover:

- Commercial Training
- New Engineering Contract (NEC)
- Building Information Modeling (BIM)
- Innovation at Chun Wo

We are flexible to match with students’ studying schedule. Each session will take 1-2 hours.

4. Student Final Year Project Scheme

Last but not least, for year 4 students, most of the undergraduate students are required to complete a final year project. During the whole project period, as a business sector, we are pleased to give directions and provide necessary information and resources during the course of project planning, design and implementation. Not limited in turning students’ knowledge into practice through industrial projects also enhancing students’ problem-solving and communication skills, bringing new ideas, insights as well as solutions to the partner company.

According to the above four proposals, we believe that synergy and partnership between your University and Chun Wo will be built up through this cooperation. Being one of the biggest construction groups in Asia, we are dedicated to developing our next generation for the industry.
