

Statute 11: Emeritus Professors

1. On the recommendation of the Senate, the Council may confer the title of Emeritus Professor upon any Chair Professor of the University on retirement from office and after being employed in the service of the University for not less than ten years, of which at least five shall have been as a full-time Chair Professor, and who in the opinion of the Senate has made a distinguished contribution to his chosen academic field.
2. Emeritus Professors shall be members of Convocation, and shall rank in precedence before Chair Professors of the University on any ceremonial or official occasion. In addition, they shall have the right to use University facilities, and be eligible to apply for office facilities within the University.
3. Emeritus Professors shall not be entitled, solely by virtue of that title, to be a member of any other body of the University, or to exercise any administrative or executive functions, except as specified in this Statute.
4. Emeritus Professors may be requested to represent the University, or to carry out duties on the University's behalf, either in Hong Kong or elsewhere.
