Active Learning and Creative Thinking about the Housing Market in Hong Kong

Project Number: 6000562

Principal Investigator: Dr. Guannan LUO

Grant Type: TSG

Abstract:

This project will enhance students' active learning and creative thinking about the housing market in Hong Kong. Students will be motivated to bring up related issues that they are interested in. They are expected to actively collect materials from news or documents, creatively analyze them using macroeconomic tools covered in classes, such as CB2402 Introduction to Macroeconomics, and give group presentations to improve interactive discussions. Cases studied can also be used as references in other or future economic or finance classes.
