Part II Course Details

1. Abstract

This course aims to develop academic skills and expertise to carry out independent research in a chosen area of language studies through the application of theory and techniques provided in the programme.

2. Course Intended Learning Outcomes (CILOs)

(CILOs state what the student is expected to be able to do at the end of the course according to a given standard of performance.)

No.	CILOs	Weighting (if applicable)	Discovery-enriched curriculum related learning outcomes (please tick where appropriate)
			A1	A2	A3
1.	design, conduct, manage and report (on) a substantial piece of individual research and development work	25%	✓	✓	✓
2.	search, select and critically evaluate literature and other materials relevant to the chosen area	25%	✓	✓	✓
3.	apply suitable research methods and sound scholarly principles to investigate the chosen topic	25%	✓	✓	✓
4.	communicate the results of the research effectively in a logical, precise and coherent manner in the form of a dissertation	25%	✓	✓	✓
		100%

A1: Attitude

Develop an attitude of discovery/innovation/creativity, as demonstrated by students possessing a strong sense of curiosity, asking questions actively, challenging assumptions or engaging in inquiry together with teachers.

A2: Ability

Develop the ability/skill needed to discover/innovate/create, as demonstrated by students possessing critical thinking skills to assess ideas, acquiring research skills, synthesizing knowledge across disciplines or applying academic knowledge to self-life problems.

A3: Accomplishments

Demonstrate accomplishment of discovery/innovation/creativity through producing /constructing creative works/new artefacts, effective solutions to real-life problems or new processes.

3. Teaching and Learning Activities (TLAs)

(TLAs designed to facilitate students' achievement of the CILOs.)

TLA	Brief Description	CILO No.				Hours/week (if applicable)
		1	2	3	4
Consultation	The student works with a designated supervisor. The student, through independent study, writes the literature review, collects & analyses data, and then writes up the dissertation. The length should be 10,000 to 15,000 words, not including references or appendices.	✓	✓	✓	✓

4. Assessment Tasks/Activities (ATs)

(ATs are designed to assess how well the students achieve the CILOs.)

5. Assessment Rubrics

(Grading of student achievements is based on student performance in assessment tasks/activities with the following rubrics.)

	Excellent (A+, A, A-)	Good (B+, B, B-)	Fair (C+, C, C-)	Marginal (D)	Failure (F)
1. Quality of the research	An excellent piece of original research, with (a) a clear fit between literature review, research questions, methodology, and findings, and (b) a clearly identified and potentially significant contribution to knowledge in its topic area. Shows a sophisticated understanding of theoretical and methodological frameworks and their application in research.	A good piece of research, with (a) a clear fit between literature review, research questions, methodology, and findings, and (b) clearly identified findings, which make a contribution to knowledge. Shows good understanding of theoretical and methodological frameworks and their application in research.	An adequate piece of research with (a) a reasonable fit between literature review, research questions, methodology, and findings (although some flaws may be evident), and (b) clearly identified findings which make a limited contribution to knowledge. Shows a basic understanding of theoretical and methodological frameworks and their application in research.	A barely adequate piece of research, in which there is evidence of an attempt to investigate a problem, but flawed research design or application of research procedures. The findings or conclusions are reasonable. Shows limited or minimal understanding of theoretical and methodological frameworks and their application in research.	An inadequate piece of research, in which there may be evidence of an attempt to address a problem, but serious flaws in research design and/or methodologies. The findings or conclusions, if present, do not relate well to the writer's own research. Shows little or no understanding of theoretical and methodological frameworks and their application in research.
2. Organisation of the dissertation	Has a clear organizational plan appropriate to a report of an original piece of research. Includes a thorough, focused and concise review of relevant literature; clearly stated and answerable research questions; and detailed but concise statement of methodology; logically	Has a clear organizational plan appropriate to a report of an original piece of research.
