Part I Course Overview

Course Title: Contrastive Studies of Chinese and English Grammar

Course Code: LT5510

Course Duration: One Semester

Credit Units: 3

Level: P5

Medium of Instruction: English

Medium of Assessment: English

Prerequisites:
(Course Code and Title) Nil

Precursors:
(Course Code and Title) CTL5402 Syntax and Morphology, LT5402 Syntax and Morphology

Equivalent Courses:
(Course Code and Title) CTL5510 Contrastive Studies of Chinese and English Grammar

Exclusive Courses:
(Course Code and Title) Nil

Part II Course Details

1. Abstract

This course aims to enable students to compare and contrast the differences between Chinese and English with respect to phonology, morphology and syntax. Chinese is evidently different from English, but their differences are not totally arbitrary, but fall under some limited bounds. . This course shows how their grammatical properties can be accounted for in a principled way by general linguistic theory. After attending course lectures, the students will not only have an adequate understanding of the grammars of Chinese and English but can also see the limit to variations

2. Course Intended Learning Outcomes (CILOs)

(CILOs state what the student is expected to be able to do at the end of the course according to a given standard of performance.)

No.	CILOs	Weighting (if applicable)	Discovery-enriched curriculum related learning outcomes (please tick ✓ where appropriate)
			A1	A2	A3
1.	Compare and contrast the differences between the phonological, morphological, syntactic and semantic structures of Chinese and English;	40%	✓	✓
2.	Discuss and apply the concepts and techniques of argumentation acquired in class to new data.	40%	✓	✓	✓
3.	Apply the analytic skills learned in class and tutorials to new problems and discover new solutions.	20%	✓	✓	✓
		100%

A1: Attitude

Develop an attitude of discovery/innovation/creativity, as demonstrated by students possessing a strong sense of curiosity, asking questions actively, challenging assumptions or engaging in inquiry together with teachers.

A2: Ability

Develop the ability/skill needed to discover/innovate/create, as demonstrated by students possessing critical thinking skills to assess ideas, acquiring research skills, synthesizing knowledge across disciplines or applying academic knowledge to self-life problems.

A3: Accomplishments

Demonstrate accomplishment of discovery/innovation/creativity through producing /constructing creative works/new artefacts, effective solutions to real-life problems or new processes.

3. Teaching and Learning Activities (TLAs)

(TLAs designed to facilitate students' achievement of the CILOs.)

TLA	Brief Description	CILO No.						Hours/week (if applicable)
		1	2	3
1	Readings: Read book chapters or journal articles to do preparations for lectures.	✓	✓
2	Lectures: Learn (a) the similarities and differences between Chinese and English with respect to phonology, morphology and syntax; (b) how the observed rules can be explained by language-specific patterns of form-function mapping principles; (c) how the differences between the two languages underlie the acquisition of one language by speakers of the other.	✓	✓	✓
3	In-class exercises: Apply concepts to data analysis. Practice by applying the concepts and argumentation for old problems to new data.	✓	✓	✓
4	Written assignments: Practice of data analysis with explanation and argumentation	✓	✓	✓
5	Written reports: Explore issues related to Chinese and English grammar and conduct a contrastive study between the two.	✓	✓	✓

4. Assessment Tasks/Activities (ATs)

(ATs are designed to assess how well the students achieve the CILOs.)

Assessment Tasks/Activities	CILO No.						Weighting	Remarks
	1	2	3
Continuous Assessment: 100%
Three assignments (Two assignments: 10% each; One assignment: 20%) Analysis of new data using the concepts and techniques learned in the lectures	✓	✓					40%
Midterm test (2 hours)	✓	✓	✓				30%
Written reports Students are required to work on ONE written report (1500-1800 words), and the topic can be self-chosen. With concepts and techniques learned in the lectures, the report should examine an issue relating to similarities and differences in English and Chinese grammar.	✓	✓	✓				30%
Examination: 0 % (duration: /)
							100%

5. Assessment Rubrics

(Grading of student achievements is based on student performance in assessment tasks/activities with the following rubrics.)

Assessment Task	Criterion	Excellent (A+, A, A-)	Good (B+, B, B-)	Fair (C+, C, C-)	Marginal (D)	Failure (F)
1. Assignments	Application of the theories learned in lecture to analyse data or solve problem	Excellent application of the theories learned in lecture to analyse data or solve problem	Good application of the theories learned in lecture to analyse data or solve problem	Satisfactory application of the theories learned in lecture to analyse data or solve problem	Unsatisfactory application of the theories learned in lecture to analyse data or solve problem	Incorrect application of the theories learned in lecture to analyse data or solve problem
2. Written reports	Demonstrate through writing the ability to discuss fundamental issues relating to contrastive studies between Chinese and English grammar.	Demonstrate strong evidence of excellent ability through writing to discuss fundamental issues relating to contrastive studies between Chinese and English grammar.	Demonstrate some evidence of good ability through writing to discuss fundamental issues relating to contrastive studies between Chinese and English grammar.	Demonstrate adequate ability through writing to discuss fundamental issues relating to contrastive studies between Chinese and English grammar.	Demonstrate little ability through writing to discuss fundamental issues relating to contrastive studies between Chinese and English grammar.	Demonstrate limited or virtually no ability through writing to discuss fundamental issues relating to contrastive studies between Chinese and English grammar.
3. Quizzes	Application of the concepts, theories and models to data analysis and problem solving	Excellent application of the concepts, theories and models to data analysis and problem solving	Good application of the concepts, theories and models to data analysis and problem solving	Satisfactory application of the concepts, theories and models to data analysis and problem solving	Unsatisfactory application of the concepts, theories and models to data analysis and problem solving	Poor application of the concepts, theories and models to data analysis and problem solving
	Ability of interpretation of Chinese and English language phenomenon	Excellent ability of interpretation of Chinese and English language phenomenon	Good ability of interpretation of Chinese and English language phenomenon	Average ability of interpretation of Chinese and English language phenomenon	Below-average ability of interpretation of Chinese and English language phenomenon	Low ability of interpretation of Chinese and English language phenomenon

Part III Other Information (more details can be provided separately in the teaching plan)

1. Keyword Syllabus

(An indication of the key topics of the course.)

Coding strategies, linguistic personality, form-function mapping, morphology and syntax; word-order variation; tense-aspect; nominal and verbal phrases; passive and BA-construction; adverbials; subject and topics

2. Reading List

2.1 Compulsory Readings

(Compulsory readings can include books, book chapters, or journal/magazine articles. There are also collections of e-books, e-journals available from the CityU Library.)

Chapters will be taken from the following books for students' readings.
