Part II Course Details

Abstract

This is a skills-based course intended for students new to the study of law at a tertiary level or new to the study of law in a common law jurisdiction. The course aims to:

- introduce students to the concept of law, the study of law and the role of legal skills in the law degree;
- familiarise students with the way the law operates in common law jurisdictions;
- develop students' ability to read and analyse common law cases;
- develop students' ability to interpret statutes and constitutional documents;
- develop students' legal research skills;
- develop students' legal writing skills.

The skills developed during this course will remain relevant throughout students' academic careers, particularly during the study of 'black letter' law subjects. JD and LLB students are co-taught.

Course Intended Learning Outcomes (CILOs)

CILOs		Weighting (if app.)	DEC-A1	DEC-A2	DEC-A3

A2: Ability

Develop the ability/skill needed to discover/innovate/create, as demonstrated by students possessing critical thinking skills to assess ideas, acquiring research skills, synthesizing knowledge across disciplines or applying academic knowledge to real-life problems.

A3: Accomplishments

Demonstrate accomplishment of discovery/innovation/creativity through producing /constructing creative works/new artefacts, effective solutions to real-life problems or new processes.

Learning and Teaching Activities (LTAs)

LTAs		Brief Description	CILO No.	Hours/week (if applicable)
1	Lectures	- Students will be introduced didactically to conceptual and theoretical content. Students will answer theoretical and practically-oriented questions and will ask follow-up questions during the lecture - Lectures take place exclusively face to face on campus	1, 2, 3, 4, 5	2

2	Library Sessions	- Students will learn search techniques for cases, legislation, secondary sources and how to responsibly use Gen-AI tools - Student learning will take place within four two-hour seminars to students outside of the regular class time, conducted by the Law Liaison Librarian - The seminars may be delivered online or face to face, depending on available library resources. Each seminar may also be repeated more than once - Students are expected to sign up to attend these seminars in their own time and to participate in the interactive exercises - Students will also receive an opportunity to help clarify seminar material through questions directed to the Law Liaison Librarian within two face to face consultation sessions after the four seminars are completed	2	Approx. 1
3	Tutorials	- Students will ask clarificatory questions about the lecture materials during tutorials - Students will complete individual and small group exercises in order to acquire, develop and ingrain the new legal skills introduced in the lectures. Tutorial exercises act as preparation for the end of semester examination - Students are encouraged to take a collaborative approach to learning in tutorials	1, 2, 3, 4	1

4	Online Discussion Board	- Each week the course leader will set one or more discussion questions on an online Canvas discussion board. - Students will have the opportunity to answer these questions in their own time over a one-week period, tying their own lived experiences to the lecture and tutorial material - Students will conduct legal research to improve their answers for some of the discussion questions - Students should not only to post themselves but also interact and comment on posts from their colleagues, demonstrating understanding, interest, and empathy for different viewpoints - The course leader and tutors will moderate content and suggest different directions the discussions could follow	1, 2, 3, 4, 5	Approx. 1
5	Reading, Research and Writing Outside of Class	- Students engage in further preparation outside the formal class hours to encourage deeper understanding of the lecture and reading material, innovative thinking and in-class engagement and discussion	1, 2, 3, 4, 5	Approx. 3

Assessment Tasks / Activities (ATs)

	ATs	CILO No.	Weighting (%)	Remarks	Allow Use of GenAI?
1	Class Participation	1, 3, 4	30	Assessed based on contributions to discussions in tutorials and attendance at library sessions, plus performance in individual and small group exercises in tutorials. Weighting 20% for tutorials, 10% for library sessions.	Yes
2	Online Discussion Board Participation	1, 2, 3, 4, 5	10	Students will contribute to the online discussion board on Canvas, continuing the debate from the preceding tutorial and lecture and addressing new discussion questions, some of which require legal research	Yes

Additional Information for ATs

End of Semester Examination: 3-hour unseen open-book examination testing students' ability to analyse statutes and cases, and to write and edit for a legal audience. To be completed individually.

Grading of Student Achievement: Standard (A+, A, A-...F).

Further details of the assessment scheme will be provided during the first lecture.

Students will need to pay careful attention to their time management skills, and to the university's Academic Honesty policy: <https://www.cityu.edu.hk/pvdp/ah/ah-rules.htm>

Applicable to students admitted from Semester A 2022/23 to Summer Term 2024

To pass this course, students must obtain an aggregate mark of 50% across the entire course and a minimum of 50% in each of the two assessment components for this course.

Applicable to students admitted before Semester A 2022/23 and in Semester A 2024/25 and thereafter

To pass this course, students must obtain an aggregate mark of 40% across the entire course and a minimum of 40% in each of the two assessment components for this course.

Assessment Rubrics (AR)

Assessment Task

Class Participation (30%) (for students admitted before Semester A 2022/23 and in Semester A 2024/25 & thereafter)

Criterion

Students will be assessed based on their informed verbal contributions to discussions in tutorials and library sessions, plus preparation and performance on individual and small group exercises in tutorials. The quality and practical relevance of participation are more important than the quantity. Note that students will not receive full participation marks merely by attending all classes. Weighting: 20% for tutorials, 10% for library sessions.

Excellent

(A+, A, A-) Student demonstrates a strong interest in and critical engagement with all course material, significant understanding of the common law's comparative and historical context, clearly and persuasively communicated written or oral responses, and an obvious and frequent ability to listen to, empathize and engage with fellow students' responses.

Good

(B+, B, B-) Student demonstrates some critical engagement with course material, a more limited understanding of the common law's comparative and historical context, somewhat clear and persuasive communication by written or oral responses, and some ability to listen to and engage with fellow students' responses.

Fair

(C+, C, C-) Student demonstrates limited critical engagement with course material, little understanding of the common law's comparative and historical context, unclear written or oral responses that do not entirely persuade, and only an occasional ability to listen to and engage with fellow students' responses.

Marginal

(D) Despite otherwise participating in the teaching and learning activities, the student demonstrates no critical engagement with course material, no understanding of the common law's comparative and historical context, provides written or oral responses devoid of persuasive devices and correct grammatical structure, and little interest in engaging with fellow students' responses.

Failure

(F) Almost no participation in teaching and learning activities. The student cannot demonstrate that he or she has read or understands the course material, or that he or she understands the common law's comparative and historical context. The student does not contribute written or oral responses when prompted, and demonstrates no interest in the views of fellow students on the course material.

Assessment Task

Online Discussion Board Participation (10%) (for students admitted before Semester A 2022/23 and in Semester A 2024/25 & thereafter)

Criterion

Canvas-based discussion boards will be available for student contributions before the next set of classes. Assessment is based on the quality of participation rather than quantity, with an increased emphasis on relating the course material to lived experience, legal research, and interaction and engagement with other students' posts.
