

Cornell University

City University of Hong Kong - School of Veterinary Medicine in collaboration with Cornell University
Veterinary Continuing Education Seminar

Join us for a web-seminar with Dr. Danièle Gunn-Moore

Topic: FLUTD and its management

May 26th, 2016, Time 21:00

Seminar Highlights:

The important role of stress in causing non-obstructed and obstructed bladder disease

The changing nature of FLUTD with age

Update on the treatment of different causes of FLUTD

Local Time: • 21:00 China, Hong Kong, Indonesia, Malaysia, Philippines, Singapore and Taiwan
• 18:30 India • 20:00 Thailand • 22:00 Korea

Duration: 1 Hour

Location: Online

Cost: Complimentary

Language: The seminar will be conducted in English language.

CPD: 0.5 CPD Points

To register, please visit:

<http://tinyurl.com/Hills-26May>

Technical Information for the web-seminar:

- This web-seminar is brought to you by Hill's Pet Nutrition Asia -Pacific, Pte. Ltd. and hosted by Hill's Far East Veterinary Affairs.
- When you register for this web-seminar, you will receive a confirmation e-mail after successful registration 2 days before the seminar date. If you do not receive the confirmation e-mail or you have any questions, do feel free to contact Hill's Far East Veterinary Affairs at: vetsupport_fareast@hillspet.com.
- Or you may also contact your local Hill's representatives.

SPEAKER:

Dr. Danièle Gunn-Moore

Professor of Feline Medicine,

Danièle Gunn-Moore graduated with Distinction from the R(D)SVS, University of Edinburgh, in 1991. After a year in small animal practice she joined The Feline Centre, University of Bristol, initially as the Feline Advisory Bureau Scholar, then the Duphar Feline Fellow, and completed a PhD study into Feline Infectious Peritonitis in 1997. After a short period as Lecturer in Veterinary Pathology, University of Bristol, she returned to Edinburgh to establish the Feline Clinic and is Professor of Feline Medicine. She is interested in all aspects of feline medicine; she is an internationally recognised expert in her area, has lectured extensively and published over a 100 peer-reviewed research papers plus many reviews and book chapters. In 2009 she was awarded the BSAVA Woodrow Award for outstanding contribution in the field of small animal veterinary medicine, in 2011 she was awarded the International Society for Feline Medicine/Hill's award for Outstanding Contributions to Feline Medicine, and in 2012 the Royal Dick students voted her "The clinician I would most like to be". She shares her home with her husband Frank and a 12 year old Maine Coon boy called Mortlach (named after a Scottish single malt whisky).