International Symposium on The National Security Law of Hong Kong: Theoretical and Practical Perspectives

On 30 June 2020, at the 20th Session of the 13th Standing Committee of the National People's Congress (NPCSC), The Law of the People's Republic of China on Safeguarding National Security in the Hong Kong Special Administrative Region was adopted (“National Security Law”). On the same day, the National Security Law was gazetted in the Hong Kong Special Administrative Region for promulgation and took effect at 11 pm the same day.

The National Security Law has an enormous impact on Hong Kong, and it has already aroused wide attention at home and abroad. Hence, this Online Symposium, co-organized by the School of Law at City University of Hong Kong and School of Law at Renmin University of China, will convene a group of experts and scholars from the mainland, Hong Kong and Macau to discuss the various critical theoretical issues and practical difficulties related to the implementation of the National Security Law.

This Symposium aims to discuss the theoretical and practical issues on the National Security Law. The Organizers will edit and publish a theme-based book (Chinese edition in Hong Kong first, and English edition by an international publisher later).

Date: 11 September 2020 (Friday)

Time: All-Day

Venue: Online Language: Bilingual (Mandarin and English)

All interested parties are welcome to attend.
