Letter from the Dean

May Day, 2020

Dear members and friends of the CityU Law community,

This academic year has been somewhat unprecedented and extraordinarily difficult. It has, amongst other things, made it challenging to arrange meetings and other engagements with alumni and friends of the law school. Hence I am writing this letter to keep you informed of developments in the law school over the recent months. I also look forward to hearing from you and welcome any thoughts that you wish to share with me.

Immediate Past Dean Geraint Howells

As most of you know, Dean Howells completed his Deanship at the school on 31 August 2019. During his 5-year tenure as Dean, he oversaw improvements in the school's research performance, improvements in student quality, stellar results in mooted competitions, a strengthening of the school's bench strength, while not sacrificing teaching and student learning which continues to be of high quality. The school owes Dean Howells a debt of gratitude and we wish him well in his new role as Professor of Commercial Law at the University of Manchester.

Faculty Promotion and New Hires

Much of the good work that the School of Law does is only possible through the effort of our academic and teaching faculty. I am therefore pleased with Dr Peter Wang's promotion in 2019.

Dr. Wang Shucheng Peter was promoted to Associate Professor of the School of Law in 2019. He has been teaching in the JD, LL.M and LL.B programs at the School since 2012. Prior to joining CityU, he held an academic position at Peking University. In addition, he has held various visiting positions including at Harvard, Seoul National University, and Academia Sinica in Taiwan.

Given the importance of faculty, attracting strong academics to the school is of utmost importance. The last few months saw a number of strong faculty joining the school in line with our ambition of becoming a leading global law school.

Prof. Wan Wai Yee is Associate Dean of the School of Law. Prior to joining City University of Hong Kong, she was at Singapore Management University, where she last held the positions of Dean of Post-graduate Research Programmes and Professor of Law. Her main areas of research are in corporate law, mergers and acquisitions, securities regulation, financial consumer regulation and global restructuring and insolvency. Her research work centres on the optimal legal institutions and governance framework in order for securities markets to flourish. Her publications have appeared in books and in international peer-reviewed legal journals and she has received external research grants and research awards and fellowships. Her research findings have been relied on in consultation papers involving law and regulatory reforms internationally.

Dr. Julien Chaisse is Professor at the School of Law. He is an award-winning scholar of international law with a focus on the regulation and development of economic globalization. He has published numerous well-regarded and widely cited books and articles, and his scholarship has been cited by international courts/tribunals, as well as U.S. Courts. Dr. Chaisse's teaching and research include international trade/investment law, contract law, international arbitration, and Internet law. Dr. Chaisse served as a senior fellow at the World Trade Institute (Switzerland), lecturer at elite school Sciences Po Aix (France), and as a diplomat for the French Ministry of Foreign Affairs (Embassy of France in India).

Prof. Thomas Crofts holds a joint appointment in the School of Law and Department of Social and Behavioural Sciences. He is a graduate of University College London (LLB (Hons)), the Bayerische Julius-Maximilians-University Würzburg, Germany (LLM) and the European University Viadrina in Frankfurt/O., Germany (Dr iur). His research in criminal law, criminology and criminal justice centres on criminalisation and criminal responsibility with a particular focus on the criminalisation and criminal responsibility of children, comparative criminal law and criminal law reform. Prof. Crofts' teaching interests are in the fields of criminal law, criminology and criminal justice.

Dr. Liu Qiao is Professor at the School of Law. His previous posts include Associate Professor at the TC Beirne School of Law, University of Queensland (Australia); Lee Ka Shing Visiting Professor at McGill University Faculty of Law; and specially appointed Tengfei Adjunct Professor at Xi'an Jiaotong University School of Law. Professor Liu teaches and researches in a wide range of business-related common law and Chinese law topics including contract, commercial law, unjust enrichment, international commercial law, and financial transactions, with a particular interest in the comparative study of Chinese and Anglo-Australian private law.

Dr. Wang Jiangyu is Professor at the School of Law. Before joining CityU, he held a tenured appointment at the Faculty of Law of the National University of Singapore for more than a decade, where he served as the Director of the Asian Law Institute (ASLI) in 2019-2020 and was the founding Deputy Director of the Centre for Asian Legal Studies from 2012 to 2016. Dr. Wang's teaching and research interests include international law and international relations, international economic law, comparative law, company law, securities regulation, and law and development in China.

Dr. Elena Sherstoboeva holds a joint appointment in the School of Law and School of Creative Media. She is a media & entertainment law researcher and legal practitioner. Her most recent research and expert projects focus on digital piracy as well as online content regulation and policies in the context of international legal standards. She has diverse experience in research, teaching and providing expert reviews in media & entertainment law for academia, industry and international organisations.

HKICS Corporate Governance Paper Competition and Presentation Awards 2019

The Hong Kong Institute of Chartered Secretaries (HKICS) Corporate Governance Paper Competition and Presentation Awards 2019 was successfully held at City University of Hong Kong (CityU) on Saturday, 21 September 2019. This Corporate Governance Paper Competition has been organized by HKICS since 2006 in order to raise the awareness of the importance of good governance for undergraduates of local universities. The theme for 2019 was “How is good governance of Non-Governmental Organisations (NGOs) similar to, and different from, good corporate governance of public companies”.

Twenty-one teams of undergraduates submitted their papers. The six finalist teams were selected for presentation to compete for the Best Presentation Award. Of the six teams, two teams came from our CityU law students. One group (with one former LLB student, CHAN Pak Hay (who is currently our PCLL student) and one HKBU student) was awarded the Champion for Paper Writing, while the other group (with two LLB students, KWONG Jasmine Nicole and LEUNG Yu Yan Ruby) was awarded the Second Runner-up for Paper Presentation. They have done well in the competition and the School is very proud of their achievements.

City University of Hong Kong Law Review

The CityU Law Review is the only student-run law review in Hong Kong. The Editorial Board published Volume 6 in April 2019 and expects to publish Volume 7 before this summer.

International Collaboration

Forging meaningful international links is important to the standing and reputation of law schools and I'm pleased to announce that the school has developed the following collaborations.

Private Law Consortium

The Private Law Consortium links centres and groups for commercial and private law research at leading international law schools around the world with the primary goal of facilitating an exchange of ideas in the fields of private and commercial law. It aims to create and maintain a scholarly community committed to the study of private law and to strengthen the ties between member schools. In addition to the CityU School of Law, its members are Bar Ilan University Faculty of Law, Vanderbilt University Law School, University of Pennsylvania Law School, Trento University Faculty of Law, Durham Law School, Erasmus Law School and the National University of Singapore.

Center for Transnational Legal Studies

The Center for Transnational Legal Studies in London is a one-of-its-kind global partnership in legal education, and includes students and faculty from 20 world-class law schools including CityU of Hong Kong, Georgetown, King's College London, Hebrew University of Jerusalem, Fribourg University, and Melbourne University. Students and faculty from the partner schools participate in a semester-long programme that focuses on international, comparative and transnational law.

THEMIS – The International Legal Network of Excellence

The school recently became the second Asian law school to join the THEMIS network which was originally a collaboration between European law schools, namely Università Bocconi (Milan, Italy), Esade (Barcelona, Spain), Freie Universität (Berlin, Germany), Université Paris Est Créteil Val de Marne (Paris, France), Maastricht Law School (Maastricht, The Netherlands), Universität St. Gallen (Switzerland) and WU (Vienna University of Economics and Business) (Austria).

THEMIS represents a network of institutions that have come together to create a new standard in business law in response to an ever-increasing demand for law professionals with international know-how and expertise. Outstanding students from the THEMIS network of universities who are selected to participate in the programme obtain a unique opportunity to go on an international exchange at a partner university, participate in international internships and attend specialised THEMIS seminars. The THEMIS Seminars provide students with a chance to delve deeper into an area of international law relevant to their academic career and is held on a rotating basis by the THEMIS universities.

Biennial Conference Series on Commercial Law

The school in collaboration with Notre Dame, National University of Singapore, and University College London will also be collaborating on a new biennial conference series on Commercial Law. The first will be on “Intermediaries in Commercial Law” to be held at UCL on 10-11 June 2021. Intermediaries play an important role in many aspects of commercial law. Yet there has been little focused attention upon intermediaries as a crucial category of actors. The aim of this conference is to consider current issues concerning intermediaries from a number of different angles, adopting a range of methodological approaches. The conference will consider the rights and liabilities of intermediaries, and how intermediaries can affect the legal position of others.

Alumni

We very much value our alumni and it is our goal to stay in constant touch. While the Covid-19 pandemic has made this difficult, we look forward to resuming this at a suitable time. The school is very grateful to our Alumni Association led by Mr Kay Chan and his team for its strong support.

During this academic year, we are glad that there were opportunities for students and staff to meet alumni, including a lunch that the Chairman of CityU’s Council, Mr Lester Huang, was able to attend to meet senior members of the Alumni Association.

In addition, the Alumni Association organized a few drinks events where our students, alumni and staff met and networked. We are also in collaboration with the Alumni Association in organizing workshops for the benefit of students to better prepare them for the legal profession.

Alumni lunch

Alumni appointed to the Judiciary are a particular pleasure for law schools. On behalf of the School, I warmly congratulate Miss Minnie Wat Lai-man (LLB '06 and PCLL '07), Mr Peter Yu Chun-cheung (LLB '06 and PCLL '07) and Mr Jeffrey Sze Cho-yiu (LLB '09 and PCLL '10) on their appointment as Permanent Magistrates.
