- The University is a place for teaching, learning and research. We respect rational and non-violent discussions on various academic topics and respect diverse opinions.
- The University adheres to the separation of education and politics and maintains autonomy and neutrality. We do not support any individuals' particular political viewpoint and hold the view that a university is not a place for political wrestling.
- Students and staff have to observe respectively the Code of Student Conduct and the Code of Conduct that provides guidance for academic and non-academic staff members on the University's expectations of their professional and ethical conduct.
- Students encountering difficulties in their studies can contact their individual course coordinators.

We hope all academic and research activities will proceed as planned. We once again call on all members of the University community to come together to safeguard our campus. In emergency situations, staff and students may call our 24-hour emergency hotline: 3442 8888.
