University Announcement

Initially confirmed Covid-19 case Notification from the Emergency Response Unit (ERU) (96)

The University was informed today (22 July) that a staff member at the Jockey Club College of Veterinary Medicine and Life Sciences has initially tested positive for Covid-19. The individual has been sent to hospital for treatment. Since 13 July, the staff member worked on campus on 16 July only.

President Kuo immediately contacted the staff member to express his sincere concerns. He learned that the staff member's condition was stable. The University will maintain close contact with the staff member and the relevant department to learn more details.

The relevant areas on campus have been comprehensively disinfected and cleaned following guidelines from the Center for Health Protection. The University is contacting any staff and students who might be affected and arrangements have been made for them to work or study from home.

We urge everyone to face the volatility of the pandemic calmly and join together to overcome the challenges. We will continue to pay close attention to the situation and take all the necessary steps to keep everyone safe.
