University Announcement

Preliminary tested positive Covid-19 case Notification from the Emergency Response Unit (ERU) (124)

The University has been informed that a postgraduate student working in the Nam Shan Building preliminary tested positive for Covid-19 today (9 December). The individual is now waiting for further medical checks.

Nam Shan Building will be closed immediately for ten days for disinfection and cleaning as a precautionary measure. Those working there should evacuate and self-isolate until they test negative.

We will continue to pay close attention to developments, take all necessary steps and handle the situation carefully. For the benefit of both you and those around you, we once again advise everyone to maintain good personal hygiene and social distancing.
