Part II Course DetailsAbstract

In the second practicum, students will be able to move back and forth between classroom study and the reality of direct practice. It is expected that students will achieve even stronger integration between classroom learning and field instruction, particularly in relating their social work studies to their practicum. Given that students have already had their initial exposure of working as a staff member in a social work agency, the novelty of taking up a social work role in a social work agency will diminish and they will be less preoccupied with adjustment to the practicum setting. Thus, students are expected to concentrate more in advancing their practice competence which may now build on a broadened and more differentiated knowledge base with special focus on theoretical systems underlying specific practice approaches/models and how they are translated into client-specific and setting-specific social work interventions. This course aims to enable students to Discover practice theory by generalizing from practice experiences; Assess critically the application of knowledge and skills in practice; Develop competence in performing the professional role and staff role in host agencies; Develop competence as a reflective professional practitioner.

Teaching and Learning Activities (TLAs)

	TLAs	Brief Description	CILO No.	Hours/week (if applicable)
1	Practice	It aims to create a context where multiple ways of knowing are acknowledged, and to recreate situations to develop possible alternative meanings to experience professional practice. Students are expected to concentrate more in advancing their practice competence which may now build on a broadened and more differentiated knowledge base with special focus on theoretical systems underlying specific practice approaches/ models and how they are translated into client-specific and setting-specific social work interventions. Students should acquire the ability to perform as professional personnel in the host agency, with the capacity for independent practice, and accountable to the agency and clients for what one does in the professional role.	1, 2, 3, 4

2	Intervention plan, progress and evaluation reports	To help students to master various professional records to re-present their practice in text, to reflect on their practice and examine it critically. Students are expected to be committed to the mission, purpose, and values of the social work profession, to contribute to the development of indigenous social work knowledge, and be accountable for what one does as a professional practitioner, with a view to improve clients' quality of life.	1, 2, 3, 4

3	Supervision	To provide a space for students to consult and seek support from their fieldwork supervisor, teachers, and through describing, informing, confronting and reconstructing processes to help them to tackle problems and issues in their field practice. Students will meet fieldwork instructor from the university weekly for 1 ½ hours on the average, and periodically with agency team leader throughout the whole period of the practicum. Given the fact that they have had their experience with practicum training in the first practicum, we would expect students to be a more competent learner in the second practicum. Students should be able to perform as a reflective, ethical and competent practitioner under a sustained process of practicum supervision, and are expected to assume greater control and responsibility for their own learning in the second practicum.	1, 2, 3, 4
